17. USE OF PERSONAL INFORMATION

We may pass information about the Buyer to our agents and service providers to search files of credit reference agencies to help administer any accounts, services and products provided by the Company, now or in the future. We may share information about how the Buyer deals with his accounts with other financial institutions, and with credit agencies to detect fraud or recover loss. It may also be used to inform the Buyer about services and product which may be of interest to them unless requested otherwise.

The Company from time to time may insure its sales ledger and any payments not made within a reasonable time may be notified to the credit underwriters. This could result in the Buyer's credit rating being adversely affected by our credit insurer as well as credit reference agencies.

When a credit account is applied for with the Company, we may check the following records relating to the Buyer:

- a) Our own records.
- b) Records held by Credit Reference Agencies, who, when they receive a search request from the Company, may leave a search footprint on your personal credit file (including Company Director), that may be seen by other Lenders/Organizations. These agencies supply both public (including the electoral register) and shared credit and fraud prevention information. Such information may be used for assessing applications, verifying identity to prevent crime and money laundering. The Company may also make periodic searches at such agencies to manage the credit account with us. The Buyers data may also be used for other purposes when required by law or where permitted under the terms of the Data Protection Act 1998.
